DEALING WITH TAX AUTHORITIES

THURSDAY, 26 MARCH 2020 ~~$395~~ $295
2.00PM TO 5.15PM (AEDT) Live from VIC WEB203AV05

Accountants spend a lot of time dealing with tax authorities. As your clients' representative, it's crucial to stay informed and advise your clients early on matters that might result in tax disputes and relieve their burdens by acting and managing communication on their behalf. After this informative half day program, you will gain the keys to success when dealing with tax authorities.

Chair: Paul McCartin, Partner, PwC

ATO Audits: Practical Tips and Traps

Explore how best to deal with the ATO during the audit stage, including:

- Approach: proactive or reactive? Big picture or narrow focus?
- Responding to requests for information and notices under compulsory access powers
- Facts vs assumptions, and early evidence preparation
- Consideration of non-tax issues, e.g. contract law, equity, trusts, company law
- Responding to position papers

Presented by Amber Agustin, Partner, Clayton Utz and Angela Lee, Barrister, Aickin Chambers

Handling Director Penalties for Your SME Clients

The DPN regime makes company directors (and perhaps others) personally liable for a range of unpaid company tax liabilities. While there may be Phoenix business operators out there, this personal liability doesn't require some sort of fraudulent intent and can be automatically triggered by the legislation. This means that the owners of SME company businesses which suffer cash flow problems as victims of external forces can have their personal assets exposed to the Commissioner.

- The background to the DPN provisions
- DPN exposure for PAYG withholding, superannuation guarantee and GST
- Defenses that may be available
- Dealing with the ATO
- DPN's and asset protection

Presented by Damian O'Connor, Principal, Tax + Law

SMALL BUSINESS RESTRUCTURING WORKSHOP

TUESDAY, 17 MARCH 2020

~~$395~~ $295

1.30PM TO 4.45PM (AEST) Live from QLD WEB203AQ03

Client business structures can regularly be unsuitable for present circumstances. Whether they were not correctly created in the first place, operations have changed over time, succession planning issues have arisen or any other multitude of reasons.

In this workshop you will examine in detail the what, where, why & how SME restructures can be done, whether using the small business CGT concessions, the small business rollover restructure or other provisions.

Other crucial issues impacting restructures that will be covered include dealing with general legal issues such as transferring employees, leases and intellectual property. Duty exemptions and concessions for business restructures that can be applied will also be addressed.

Delve into case studies that are real life client cases where restructures have been undertaken. Explore issues such as:

- Application of the safe harbour principles
- Succession planning which satisfies the 'genuine restructure' test
- Satisfying the ATO view of ultimate economic ownership when trusts and companies are involved
- Legal documentation required to properly implement structures
- Using the 15 year retirement concession to transfer business real property into SMSFs

Presented by Clifford Hughes, Principal, Clifford Hughes & Associates; Accredited Specialist in Taxation and Business Law; Chartered Tax Adviser
