Medicine, Criminal Law and Dementia: A Mirror on Paternalism, Human Rights and Decision-making

With an ageing population, the incidence of dementia concerns have increased. This has been mirrored in the criminal justice system. Increasingly, lawyers are expected to have greater awareness and appreciation of a wide range of neurodegenerative conditions, which may have implications for a defendant's fitness to stand trial, culpability and sentencing. The over 65 years age group is now the largest growing sector in the custodial setting, suggesting dementia is also highly relevant post-sentencing.

A PRACTICAL GUIDE TO ADMINISTRATIVE DECISIONS AND PUBLIC INQUIRIES

RECORDED IN SEPTEMBER 2019 IN VIC $490
4 CPD UNITS >click here to see online OND199V04

Recent scrutiny and appeals to administrative decisions have raised questions over evidence, credibility and materiality. The frequency of Royal Commissions and Inquiries has created new challenges for administrative law practitioners. With an exceptional line-up of presenters, examine these highly topical issues and recent case law in administrative review.

Chair: Rachel Walsh, Barrister, Douglas Menzies Chambers

Issues of Evidence in Judicial Review Proceedings and Appeals

- The starting point for relevance: materials that were before the decision-maker
- When might other evidence be relevant?
- Do different rules apply in judicial review proceedings in respect of e.g. discovery?
- Evidence vs reasons for decision
- Evidence when the issue is a jurisdictional fact
- Application of the rules of evidence at a hearing
- Some consideration of the issues as may arise on an appeal

Presented by Lisa De Ferrari SC, List A Barristers

Errors in Credibility Findings: Lessons and Takeaways from Case Law

Adverse credibility findings are often at the heart of adverse decisions of administrative decision-makers. Until relatively recently, attempts to impugn adverse credibility findings on a judicial review were often met with the uniform response that credibility is a matter par excellence for the decision maker and is not amenable to judicial review. However, the fact that credibility is a matter reserved to an administrative decision-maker to determine as a question of fact does not mean that challenges to credibility are not open. This session will explore recent decisions that demonstrate the different ways in which such findings are susceptible to challenge and provide some guidance as to how such decisions might inform the presentation of a case before a primary decision-maker.

Presented by Catherine Symons, Barrister, Young's List

Materiality as an Element of Jurisdictional Error

- The High Court's recent decisions in Hossain and SZMTA
- Reconciling the High Court's recent decisions with its previous decisions, including SAAP
- Ascertaining the existence and nature of a threshold of materiality
- Particular issues with respect to proof of material breach of procedural fairness
- Relationship between materiality as element of jurisdictional error, and discretionary bases for refusal to grant relief

Presented by Nick Wood, Barrister, List A Barristers

Royal Commissions and Inquiries

- History and an update: Where are they all at?
- Difference between Royal Commissions and Inquiries
- Terms of reference

STATUTORY INTERPRETATION: PUTTING THE PUZZLE TOGETHER

RECORDED IN JUNE 2019 IN VIC $490
4 CPD UNITS >click here to see online OND196V01

Piecing together the intent, purpose, context and structure of a statute can be difficult enough. But wait, there's more. Statutory interpretation can also involve complex questions tied to judicial review. And unique events such as the repeal of a statute can add further complexity. It can be a challenge to keep it all straight, but luckily we've assembled a renowned collection of masters in the area who will impart their knowledge and insights to help you elevate your statutory interpretation skills.

Chair: Dr Kristine Hanscombe QC, List G Barristers

Intent, Purpose, Context and Structure: How Does it All Fit Together?

- Judicial instructions relating to the application of purpose, context and structure in statutory interpretation
- How application of the same legislation to the same facts can lead to significantly different judicial outcomes
- How these principles fit together in the statutory interpretation case of FCT v BHP Billiton Limited [2019]

 Presented by Matthew Meng, Barrister, Greens List

Practical Problem Solving Workshop

- A practical exercise in working through a statutory problem, with opportunity for discussion and commentary
- Common words and phrases used in statutes and how they are interpreted
- Common pitfalls of statutory interpretation

 Presented by James Stoller, Barrister, Foley's List

Judicial Review and Statutory Interpretation

- Judicial review inevitably involves construing the scope of the relevant power, which is almost always a process of statutory construction
- Each ground of judicial review (procedural fairness; relevancy; improper purpose; unauthorised delegation; jurisdictional error; error of law on the face of the record) will require a consideration of the meaning of the empowering statute in order to ascertain whether power has been exceeded in the relevant way
- Statutory interpretation is also central to determining what the results of an error are and whether invalidity will necessarily follow from a finding of error

 Presented by Sarala Fitzgerald, Barrister, List G Barristers

What is Preserved Upon a Repeal of Statute?

- The legal view of the effect of repeal of an Act used to be that, after repeal, the Act was treated as if it never existed and pre-existing law revived
- The enactment of provisions such as s 8 of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 (Cth) has changed that legal view, and established a regime in which rights that accrued and liabilities that were incurred under the repealed Act survive the repeal, as do legal proceedings that have been commenced
- Particular rules operate with respect to the repeal of delegated legislation, and procedural rules in repealed Acts

 Presented by Peter Hanks QC, List G Barristers and Frances Gordon, Barrister, List G Barristers

INFORMATION LAW FOR GOVERNMENT

RECORDED IN SEPTEMBER 2019 IN WA $405
3 CPD UNITS >click here to see online OND199W04

Is privilege lost when shared within government? Who can waive the privilege? When is confidentiality the exception to the disclosure rule? What information can I release to the public? Government lawyers are faced with a raft of special rules and obligations surrounding information, and rightly so. As holders of critical data, personal details and security information, it is government's duty to protect it. Gain clarity on exactly what your obligations are so that you don't make a mistake you'll regret..

Chair: Catherine Fletcher, Information Commissioner for WA
