The Psychology Behind Effective Stakeholder Engagement for Establishing Successful JVs and Shareholder Agreements

Success in JVs, mergers and acquisitions rely on the ability to effectively engage and influence the key stakeholders towards agreed positions.

This often means dealing with the shareholders and executive management's joint and personal interests and gaining buy-in for significant change and uncertainty.

Acquire a psychological insight into what key stakeholder powers of influence exist and how to deal with them to achieve a high level of engagement and buy in for M&A projects, and the tools in the toolbox for dealing with stakeholder challenges.

Obtain a trouble shooter's look at:

- Why individuals are so different
- What 'power' of influence versus 'interest' actually means
- The fastest way to build effective relationships
- How to deal with difficult key stakeholders
- How steering committees and advisory groups work

Walk away with insights into the complexity of the people dynamics and how to understand the most effective ways to approach and gain buy-in from the key stakeholders.

 Presented by Todd Hutchison, Balfour Meagher Legal and Business Advisors

STATUTORY INTERPRETATION: PUTTING THE PUZZLE TOGETHER

RECORDED IN JUNE 2019 IN VIC $490
4 CPD POINTS >click here to see online OND196V01

Piecing together the intent, purpose, context and structure of a statute can be difficult enough. But wait, there's more. Statutory interpretation can also involve complex questions tied to judicial review. And unique events such as the repeal of a statute can add further complexity. It can be a challenge to keep it all straight, but luckily we've assembled a renowned collection of masters in the area who will impart their knowledge and insights to help you elevate your statutory interpretation skills.

Chair: Dr Kristine Hanscombe QC, List G Barristers

Intent, Purpose, Context and Structure: How Does it All Fit Together?

- Judicial instructions relating to the application of purpose, context and structure in statutory interpretation
- How application of the same legislation to the same facts can lead to significantly different judicial outcomes
- How these principles fit together in the statutory interpretation case of FCT v BHP Billiton Limited [2019]

Presented by Matthew Meng, Barrister, Greens List

Practical Problem Solving Workshop

- A practical exercise in working through a statutory problem, with opportunity for discussion and commentary
- Common words and phrases used in statutes and how they are interpreted
- Common pitfalls of statutory interpretation

Presented by James Stoller, Barrister, Foley's List

Judicial Review and Statutory Interpretation

- Judicial review inevitably involves construing the scope of the relevant power, which is almost always a process of statutory construction
- Each ground of judicial review (procedural fairness; relevancy; improper purpose; unauthorised delegation; jurisdictional error; error of law on the face of the record) will require a consideration of the meaning of the empowering statute in order to ascertain whether power has been exceeded in the relevant way
- Statutory interpretation is also central to determining what the results of an error are and whether invalidity will necessarily follow from a finding of error

Presented by Sarala Fitzgerald, Barrister, List G Barristers

What is Preserved Upon a Repeal of Statute?

- The legal view of the effect of repeal of an Act used to be that, after repeal, the Act was treated as if it never existed and pre-existing law revived
- The enactment of provisions such as s 8 of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 (Cth) has changed that legal view, and established a regime in which rights that accrued and liabilities that were incurred under the repealed Act survive the repeal, as do legal proceedings that have been commenced
- Particular rules operate with respect to the repeal of delegated legislation, and procedural rules in repealed Acts

Presented by Peter Hanks QC, List G Barristers and Frances Gordon, Barrister, List G Barristers
