LOCAL GOVERNMENT LAW FORUM

THURSDAY, 29 FEBRUARY 2024
9.00AM TO 1.15PM

$420
242NZW02

Explore crucial aspects of local government, including funding decisions, civil defence emergencies, climate adaptation, and RMA reform. Gain valuable insights into these critical areas, equipping you with the knowledge and understanding necessary to navigate the complex landscape of local government effectively.

Chair: Lisa Hansen, Barrister, Barristers.com

Local Government Funding Decisions

- ATPR decision focus

Presented by Meredith Webb, Manager Public Law at Auckland Council

Civil Defence Emergencies and the Law

- What is the state of local government law for BAU, response and recovery after the health and weather emergencies of the last few years. What's working and what's not, including from the perspective of local authorities, communities, risk-based commercial interests, and maintenance of good law-making?
- The previous government introduced the Emergency Management Bill, and the Bill was referred to the Governance and Administration Committee for submissions. What is the potential of this Bill and where could further legislative changes be made?
- How local authorities can respond and support recovery

Presented by Lizzy Wiessing, Barrister, Kate Sheppard Chambers

Community-Led Retreat and Climate Change Adaptation: Why a New Framework and Approach is Required

- How will that framework impact on local government, in terms of its strategic planning, funding, community engagement and decision-making roles?
- What will new legislation mean for liability risk, and how will council policy development and regulation of natural hazard related risk need to change?
- What do councils need to be aware of now, and what are the opportunities to inform the preparation of the CAA?

Presented by Mike Wakefield, Partner, Simpson Grierson

RMA Reform: Groundhog Day. Where are We and Where are we Headed?

- The new, old, RMA will be back (with new amendments). That is step one of the reform. What will this step involve and what are the opportunities and implications for councils?
- Step 2 will be the future RMA replacement. A bill is proposed to be introduced before the end of this parliamentary term. What will this step involve and what are the opportunities and implications for councils?
- At a higher level how can we get consensus / consistency in approach rather than our present constantly changing legislative (and policy) environment?

Presented by David Allen, Partner, Buddle Findlay

ONLINE ONLY UNDERSTANDING FINANCIAL REPORTS WORKSHOP

TUESDAY, 5 MARCH 2024
10.00AM TO 1.15PM

$345
WEB243NZA34Z

Attend this practical workshop to gain a better understanding of what financial statements are telling you and what red flags to watch out for. Understand the information that you can gather when you learn how to really read a business valuation and about the different valuation methodologies the valuer could have used. Learn how to identify signs of potential distress or insolvency in financial statements.

PART ONE

Understanding and Interpreting Financial Statements Including "Red Flags"

Not all financial statements are created equal. Join this workshop to explore why this is before walking through the financial statements contained in a financial report and talk about the key elements.

Throughout the session you will consider:

- How to read the profit and loss statement and identify red flags
- How to read a balance sheet
- Identifying red flags and where to locate critical information

PART TWO

Business Valuations for Dispute Purposes

The expert business valuer has provided you with their report and you can see their determined value but what is the remaining content of the report actually saying and how did they get to their value?

Throughout the second part of the workshop you will examine:

- Processes that a business valuer will follow to arrive at their determination of valuation and discuss in detail
- The application of the various valuation methodologies that they could have applied
- The information they should have considered

PART THREE

How to Identify Signs of Potential Distress or Insolvency in the Financial Statements

When assessing whether a business is suffering from distress, or at risk of insolvency, there are different approaches and analysis that can be used. This session will highlight how critical it is that management monitors financial performance and the overall health of the business to identify areas of concern. We'll also discuss the importance of working with key partners / advisors to implement appropriate strategies and ensure debts can be paid as and when they fall due.

Your facilitators for this workshop are:

Kellie Badge, Director, Forensic Solutions; Business Valuation Specialisation CAANZ and

David Ferrier, Director, Forensic Solutions

Andre Lakomy, Partner, AL Restructuring
